Dan Jablonsky
Chief Executive Officer & Chairman

Dan Jablonsky is the Chief Executive Officer at Ursa Major. He has held senior leadership roles in the aerospace and defense industry for more than a decade. Most recently, Dan served as President and CEO of Maxar Technologies, where he led the NYSE-listed company through a comprehensive turnaround, reorganization, and growth strategy, culminating in a $6.4 billion take-private acquisition by Advent International. Prior to that, he was President of DigitalGlobe, overseeing business operations, sales, and government affairs. Dan began his career as a surface warfare officer and nuclear engineer in the U.S. Navy before transitioning to law, serving at the SEC, in corporate law firms, and in-house counsel roles. He holds a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from the United States Naval Academy, graduated from the Navy Nuclear Power School, and earned a J.D. from the University of Washington School of Law.
