

Paul Petersen

Senior Vice President, Visolis

Paul Petersen is the Senior Vice President at Visolis, where he leads external strategy, business development, government affairs, and capital formation. With over six years at the company, Paul has been focused on advancing Visolis' partnerships with multinational chemical firms, defense stakeholders, and institutional investors. His work spans joint ventures, licensing, and government-backed demonstration projects, particularly in synthetic fuels and critical materials for the U.S. defense supply chain.